

SITH OR JEDI SCORING AND FINAL RESULTS

FINAL RESULTS

Have you complete all 44 questions? Calculate your score and determine which path you walk.

+22 to +45: You choose to walk in the Light. You help little old ladies across the street and you would never take the last cookie on the plate.

-21 to +21: You walk the neutral path. You do not define the world as a place with start right or wrong choices – you prefer a more pragmatic approach. Or perhaps you are just good at determining what serves your best interests.

-22 to -45: You choose the Dark Side. Sith pancakes for all!

SCORING

45. Test of the Unpleasant Train Passengers

1. (+1) You have chosen the Light side.
2. (+0) You have chosen the neutral path.
3. (-1) You have chosen the Dark Side

44. Test of the Unpleasant Train Passengers

4. (+1) You have chosen the Light side.
5. (+0) You have chosen the neutral path.
6. (-1) You have chosen the Dark Side

43. Test of the Chatty Patrons

7. (+1) You have chosen the Light side.
8. (+0) You have chosen the neutral path.
9. (-1) You have chosen the Dark Side

42. Test of the Raid Night Late Arrival

1. (+1) You have chosen the Light side.
2. (+0) You have chosen the neutral path.
3. (-1) You have chosen the Dark Side.

41. The Test of the Helping Hand

1. (+1) You have chosen the Light side.
2. (+0) You have chosen the neutral path.
3. (-1) You have chosen the Dark Side.

40. The Test of the Helping Hand

1. (+1) You have chosen the Light side.
2. (+0) You have chosen the neutral path.
3. (-1) You have chosen the Dark Side.

39. The Test of the Santa Line

1. (+1) You have chosen the Light side.
2. (+0) You have chosen the neutral path.
3. (-1) You have chosen the Dark Side.

38. The Test of the Parking Lot

1. (+1) You have chosen the Light side.

2. (+0) You have chosen the neutral path.
3. (-1) You have chosen the Dark Side.

37. The Test of the Noisy Neighbor

1. (+1) You have chosen the Light side.
2. (+0) You have chosen the neutral path.
3. (-1) You have chosen the Dark Side.

36. THE TEST OF THE ICE CUBE TRAYS

1. (+1) You have chosen the Light side.
2. (+0) You have chosen the neutral path.
3. (-1) You have chosen the Dark Side.

35. THE TEST OF THE UNWANTED PHONE CALL

1. (+1) You have chosen the Light side. You're going to have to deal with the friend eventually, it might as well be now.
2. (+0) You have chosen the neutral path. You will wait to see if he leaves a message or text, then you can deal with it later when you're more in the mood.
3. (-1) You have chosen the Dark Side.

34. THE TEST OF THE MOVIE NIGHT

1. (+1) You have chosen the Light side. You know your other friend would be sad and you want to honor that commitment.
2. (+0) You have chosen the neutral path. What your other friend doesn't know, won't hurt him.
3. (-1) You have chosen the Dark Side. It's a movie. There are a dozen movies you could watch with your other friend, no one should get so attached to one title.

33. TEST OF THE PIRATED MOVIE

1. (+1) You have chosen the Light side. People worked hard to create these movies and watching them for free is the same as expecting them to work for free, in other words: stealing.
2. (+0) You have chosen the neutral path. If it's so wrong, then somebody should shut these sites down. Until that happens, it seems unrealistic to expect people to toe the line. Besides, everybody does it.
3. (-1) You have chosen the Dark Side. It's a hard, cruel world out there. You have to take advantage when the opportunity presents itself to you. Bleeding hearts who worry about ethical dilemmas like this are just not accepting the realities of the online world.

32. TEST OF THE OFFICE REFRIGERATOR

1. (+1) You have chosen the Light side. Taking someone else's food from the office refrigerator? Only a complete jerk would do such a thing!
2. (+0) You have chosen the neutral path. By day three, it's clear the owner doesn't want it, so why shouldn't you take it?
3. (-1) You have chosen the Dark Side. Anyone dumb enough to leave such a delectable dessert right there in the open clearly doesn't appreciate how delicious and irresistible it is, and therefore won't appreciate it as much as you will.

31. TEST OF THE RETURN ADDRESS LABELS

1. (+1) You have chosen the Light side. You don't feel right using the labels without supporting the cause.

2. (+0) You have chosen the neutral path. You didn't ask them to send you the labels, and it doesn't make sense to waste them.
3. (-1) You have chosen the Dark Side. Recycling is for tree huggers and you don't respond to charitable solicitations because it just encourages them to fill your mailbox with more junk. Of course you're using the labels; if they're dumb enough to keep sending them, you're smart enough to keep taking advantage.

30. TEST OF THE CONVENTION LINE

1. (+1) You have chosen the Light side. It's not really fair to the people who made the effort to arrive early if you cut in front of them.
2. (+0) You have chosen the neutral path. At least you're not assuming that everyone, including your friend, is ok with line cutting.
3. (-1) You have chosen the Dark Side. Lines and rules are for lesser folk. What's the point of having connections if you don't use them?

29. TEST OF THE COLLECTOR'S EDITION

1. (+1) You have chosen the Light side. You know how much the CE will mean to your friend. The satisfaction of helping him is more important than making a profit.
2. (+0) You have chosen the neutral path. Your friend will get a chance to get the CE and you will make a nice profit. Win-win.
3. (-1) You have chosen the Dark Side. You're tired of your disorganized friend expecting other people to bail him out. This is a good lesson for him.

28. THE TEST OF THE LOST PUPPY

1. (+1) You have chosen the Light Side. Surely the owner is looking everyone for this cute puppy.
2. (+0) You have chosen the Neutral path. You don't want a dog and don't want to be bothered with dealing with it. It's not your problem.
3. (-1) You have chosen the Dark Side. It may be cute, but it's not your responsibility and the owner should have kept it on a leash or confined in their own yard.

27. THE TEST OF THE BAD HAIRCUT

1. (+1) You have chosen the Light Side. What's important is whether your significant other likes it. You just want to be supportive.
2. (+0) You have chosen the Neutral path. Honestly, you really never do notice.
3. (-1) You have chosen the Dark Side. You're the one that has to look at the new hairstyle all the time, so of course you care how it looks.

26. TEST OF THE CRYING CHILD

1. (+1) You have chosen the Light Side. It is better to be sympathetic and wait for the unpleasantness to subside. At least you aren't the one that has to go home with the noisy child.
2. (+0) You have chosen the Neutral path. You don't want to make a scene, but you also don't want your semi-pricey dinner ruined. This way everyone wins. Well, everyone except the other patrons who weren't pro-active enough to move. And the parents who still have to deal with their fussy child. Actually, maybe only you win, which is fine too.
3. (-1) You have chosen the Dark Side. Parents should know better than to inflict their obnoxious offspring on a restaurant full of people who do not want to pay good money for the ambience of a poorly-run preschool. A verbal smackdown is just reward for their rudeness.

25. THE TEST OF THE PROMOTION

1. (+1) You have chosen the Light side. You want to win the job on your own merits so you are not threatened by saying anything positive about your co-worker. The best man should win the job. If it's not you, then so be it.
2. (+0) You have chosen the neutral path. You won't say anything negative about your co-worker, but you switch the focus of your conversation to your qualifications.
3. (-1) You have chosen the Dark Side. Getting ahead in the workplace is more important than who is more qualified. Besides, you need the promotion more than your co-worker does.

24. TEST OF THE MIS-DELIVERED MAIL

4. (+1) You have chosen the Light side. Your neighbor paid for the subscription and you don't want to delay getting the magazine to them ASAP.
5. (+0) You have chosen the neutral path. A slight delay won't be noticed, especially if you are careful to keep the magazine in good condition and get it to them in the next day or so.
6. (-1) You have chosen the Dark Side. It's not your fault the mail carrier sucks at his job. Why should you go out of your way to fix the mistakes of others?

23. TEST OF THE "DO NOT BLOCK DRIVEWAY" SIGN

1. (+1) You have chosen the Light side. You always appreciate it when other people leave the gap so you can get in and out, so it's only right that you do the same.
2. (+0) You have chosen the neutral path. Well, it's not a choice really. You are just unobservant.
3. (-1) You have chosen the Dark Side. You are not going to risk someone getting in front of you, and you rather enjoy the dirty looks people give you as you block their way.

22. TEST OF THE MOVIE THEATER SEATING

1. (+1) You have chosen the Light side. Having something to rest your feet on shouldn't take precedence over letting someone have a decent seat.
2. (+0) You have chosen the neutral path. It's better to pretend you don't understand than to actively refuse a polite request.
3. (-1) You have chosen the Dark Side. Lack of planning on their part does not constitute generosity on your part.

21. TEST OF THE RESTAURANT DOOR

1. (+1) You have chosen the Light side. Eventually the crowd will subside and you will be able to enter.
2. (+0) You have chosen the neutral path. It's one thing to let one or two people in, but you don't want the whole crowd treating you like the doorman.
3. (-1) You have chosen the Dark Side. Every person that slips in ahead of you to the hostess is adding to your wait time for a table.

20. TEST OF THE ELEVATOR DOOR

1. (+1) You have chosen the Light side. You're already late and waiting a few more seconds to let the other person on isn't that big a deal.
2. (+0) You have chosen the neutral path. Be passive and let the Fates decide.
3. (-1) You have chosen the Dark Side. Your timetable supersedes Random Scurrying Person's table. This elevator needs to move NOW.

19. TEST OF THE COFFEE BAR TABLE

1. (+1) You have chosen the Light side. You know the coffee bar will get crowded before you are ready to leave. It is inconsiderate to take up more space than you absolutely need.
2. (+0) You have chosen the neutral path. Nothing wrong with using a full-size table when it isn't needed. When it is, you can move. No harm, no foul.
3. (-1) You have chosen the Dark Side. You arrived early, so you are entitled to choose whichever table you want. First-come, first-served. Glare at anyone who dares to ask if they can use one of your chairs.

18. TEST OF THE SNOW SIDEWALK

1. (+1) You have chosen the Light side. If you stopped shoveling at the end of your property, you would have to walk through snow the rest of the way, and what's the point of that?
2. (+0) You have chosen the neutral path. Your own walk is cleared properly and that fulfills your neighborly obligation. Maybe your neighbors will notice that it kinda sucks to go tromping through the snow and will finally decide to do something about it.
3. (-1) You have chosen the Dark Side. You'll do your neighbors' share of the work, but only because you have no choice. If they don't like the way you shovel the walk in front of their houses, then they should get out and do it themselves for once.

17. TEST OF THE LAST TWINKIE

1. (+1) You have chosen the Light side. You shouldn't be eating that junk food anyway. Have some baby carrots instead.
2. (+0) You have chosen the neutral path. You may be "stealing" the last Twinkie from your kid, but he's been eating too much junk food lately.
3. (-1) You have chosen the Dark Side. Who makes these rules about what food belongs to which people, anyway? Whoever bought the Twinkies should have thrown enough boxes in the cart so the whole family could share!

16. TEST OF THE THANK YOU NOTE

1. (+1) You have chosen the Light side. Though some have let social customs slide, you will take the high road and continue to give gifts purely with the intent of bringing someone joy on a special occasion.
2. (+0) You have chosen the neutral path. Thank God! People don't do expect thank you notes anymore! It's more of a bonus-points/extra credit situation now.
3. (-1) You have chosen the Dark Side. When people can't be bothered even to make a simple phone call to say thank you, they should be glad to have a salty cheese product to share with the rest of their family!

15. TEST OF THE RETAIL STORE LINE

1. (+1) You have chosen the Light side. Important rules like Waiting Your Turn are observed by responsible adults who understand that the unspoken social contract with your fellow human beings are what make society run more smoothly for everyone.
2. (+0) You have chose the neutral path. You're not going to cut in front of anyone, but you're also not going to give this store any of your business.
3. (-1) You have chosen the Dark Side. Nine times out of ten neither the cashier nor the other customers will say anything to line cutters and you have things you need to do at home. The store should hire more cashiers to avoid stressing their customers out.

14. TEST OF THE HOT SHOWER

1. (+1) You have chosen the Light side. First in, doesn't mean take advantage. Also, using less hot water is better for the planet.

2. (+0) You have chosen a neutral path. It's a shower. Get in, get out, don't overthink it and don't be greedy.
3. (-1) You have chosen the Dark side. Hey, you were smart enough to grab your towel first and enjoy one of life's little luxuries. Let everyone else wait for the water tank to refill, no big deal.

13. TEST OF THE THANKSGIVING DINNER

1. (+1) You have chosen the Light side. Better to make the extra effort and get some kind of turkey for this once-a-year feast.
2. (+0) You have chosen a neutral path. There may not be a turkey, but at least you have all the other fixings. This is a holiday about family and friendship and being grateful for what you have. What better way to teach that lesson?
3. (-1) You have chosen the Dark side. You have slaved for three days, preparing this meal. Your guests will eat it and love it, teeth-marks notwithstanding.

12. TEST OF THE LEAF BLOWER

1. (+1) You have chosen the Light side. You didn't see your neighbor blow the leaves into your yard, so you have to give him the benefit of the doubt.
2. (+0) You have chosen a neutral path. The remaining pile of leaves will be less noticeable as more leaves fall. Next time get out to rake first so you can be the one to set the boundary.
3. (-1) You have chosen the Dark side. Two can play this game. Your neighbor is lucky you didn't just blow ALL your leaves to his side.

11. TEST OF THE STREET PARKING

1. (+1) You have chosen the Light side. The space on the street in front of your house is not an extension of your driveway, which actually IS your private property.
2. (+0) You have chosen a neutral path. Claiming the spot with your car sends a subtle message without being too confrontational.
3. (-1) You have chosen the Dark side. Legal or not, the space in front of your house is yours. If the basketball hoop thing doesn't work, next week you're getting out the lawnmower.

10. TEST OF THE EXPRESS CHECKOUT LANE

1. (+1) You have chosen the Light side. You hate being stuck behind someone who is breaking the limit item rule, even by one or two items, so you cannot in good conscience try to sneak through yourself.
2. (+0) You have chosen a neutral path. There's no reason to have three express lanes open and only one regular lane. The store is practically begging its customers to "cheat."
3. (-1) You have chosen the Dark side. If the person behind you has a problem with your three or four extra items, let them complain to the manager.

9. TEST OF THE EMPTY GAS TANK

1. (+1) You have chosen the Light side. You did most of the driving this week, so it was your responsibility to fill the tank.
2. (+0) You have chosen a neutral path. Maybe you did most of the driving, but you filled it up last time; therefore, it is someone else's turn.
3. (-1) You have chosen the Dark side. You just spent the last of your money on beer. Besides, everyone know that the Gas Tank Challenge is one of those real-life meta games that helps you live life to the fullest. Carpe Diem!

8. TEST OF THE OATMEAL BOWL

1. (+1) You have chosen the Light side. Like the Boy Scouts, Jedis always leave a place cleaner than they found it.
2. (+0) You have chosen a neutral path. Bringing them to the kitchen makes sense. Putting them in the dishwasher is just being finicky. Wait until you have a decent-size collection, then put them in all at once.
3. (-1) You have chosen the Dark side. You have many important things on your mind and household chores are beneath your notice. A missing bowl here and a coffee mug there are really not the end of the world when the cupboard is full of them.

7. TEST OF THE GARBAGE CANS

1. (+1) You have chosen the Light side. It costs almost nothing to move the cans yourself and maybe your good neighborliness will rub off on them.
2. (+0) You have chosen a neutral path. Just ignore it. It's not that big a deal, certainly not worth getting into a neighborhood feud about.
3. (-1) You have chosen the Dark side. Subtle hints are useless against such inconsiderate buffoons and they must be taught the Rules of Being a Good Neighbor.

6. TEST OF THE FREE REFILLS

1. (+1) You have chosen the Light side. Teaching your children that sometimes stealing isn't really stealing can be dicey.
2. (+0) You have chosen a neutral path. You appreciate that museums need to make their money somewhere, but you don't feel obligated to support them by purchasing overpriced beverages.
3. (-1) You have chosen the Dark side. The soda is clearly overpriced. They shouldn't be surprised if people take advantage.

5. THE TEST OF THE SEAT HOG

1. (+1) You have chosen the Light side. Consideration of others is one of your top priorities as you walk through life.
2. (+0) You have chosen a neutral path. There is no harm in having your things occupy an empty seat while no one needs it. And if more commuters fill the other seats before getting to yours, maybe you'll reach your stop and won't have to worry about the awkwardness of squeezing past someone sitting next to you.
3. (-1) You have chosen the Dark side. You were there first. If someone has a problem with you taking an extra seat, then they can confront you, but until then, both seats are yours....and knowing that most people would rather stew in self-righteous indignation rather than actually talking to a stranger, you are betting that you will get away with it.

4. TEST OF THE CHARITABLE ORGANIZATION CALL

1. (+1) You have chosen the Light side. Your small contribution could have a positive impact on those in need, thus making the world a better place for everyone.
2. (0) You have chosen a neutral path. You have never heard of this organization and you choose which charitable organizations to support, you don't let them choose you.
3. (-1) You have chosen the Dark side. Charity is for the weak. Plus, they dared to disturb your Sith pancake dinner.

3. TEST OF THE OVER-PRICED PRODUCE

1. (+1) You have chosen the Light Side. When it comes to entertaining your guests, you do not quibble over a few dollars.
2. (0) You are taking the neutral path. Substituting a more reasonably-priced ingredient will probably not be noticed by your guests.

3. (-1) You have chosen the Dark Side. Why should you pay extra for a part of the broccoli you're not even going to use? The grocery store deserves to be cheated out of part of its profits.

2. TEST OF THE TRAIL MIX

1. (+1) You are walking the path of the Jedi. To improve your focus on the Light, you should have offered the uneaten raisins to an impoverished orphan.
2. (+0) You do not choose sides. Leaving extra raisins behind may benefit a raisin-loving party-goer.
3. (-1) You prefer the Dark Side. Why waste calories on the healthy portions or worry about snack-eating rules when chocolate is involved?

1. TEST OF THE OPEN ROAD

1. (+1) You choose the path of the Jedi. Posted speed limits are for the safety of the public and should be obeyed.
2. (+0) You do not choose sides. Clearly, 45 mph on this type of road is ridiculously low, and anyway, everyone knows that 5 mph over is perfectly acceptable.
3. (-1) You are walking the path of the Sith. Rules, especially rules that make no sense, are for sheep. Your elite driving skills will keep you from getting caught.)